

WELCOME TO THE TRADES HOUSE BAR, Nethergate Dundee

The building, originally a bank, was beautifully converted in 1997, with its ornately carved bar, decorative floor tiles and marble topped tables.

The pub's unique stained glass windows depict all the trades which have contributed to Dundee's history showing images of bakers, engineers, weavers and other trades.

An engraved mirror in the Nethergate Snug details the Old Town Hall situated in the town square. It shows character depictions of the nine incorporated Trades Masters and gives listings of their names.
